RECOMMENDATION LETTER

To whom it may concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Mr. Bartłomiej Borzyszkowski, student of Control Engineering and Robotics from Gdańsk University of Technology, Poland.

Mr. Borzyszkowski has worked as an intern in a summer project at the Instrumentation Department at the Karunya Institute of Technology and Sciences under my direct supervision. During the time spent on the research he successfully designed an intelligent, remote / self-driving car, based on a Raspberry Pi and Arduino and developed a software dedicated for the robot using Python and C/C++ languages. He proved to be a hard-working, determined, persevering and very engaged student, completing all of the internship tasks. His productive work resulted in the publication of a final report and presentations of the lectures which were greatly beneficial to the students.

As a professor I know that work in the distant and very diverse country such as India can be a challenge for international students. Mr. Borzyszkowski was not only able to accommodate himself to the new environment, but also to actively take part in the university community as a kind and sociable person. He quickly became a strong cell of the academic society and appeared to be a passionate, positive and creative person. Foremost, he did not have any problems cooperating within international team, communicating, reading and writing documentations, as well as specifying his ideas in technical English on the most advanced level. I appreciate the hard work Mr. Borzyszkowski has put into the topic, his ability to organize himself, to share his knowledge and clearly present the results of his research.

In sum, I have no doubt that Mr. Borzyszkowski is a suitable person for any challenge whatsoever in his field and I wish him all the best for his future career.

If you have any enquiries about Mr. Borzyszkowski, do not hesitate to contact me directly.

Sincerely,

Dr. K. Rajasekaran, M.Tech., Ph.D.,
Professor
